SELBACH'S TWO-BAGGER GIVES GIANTS THE LEAD

A KENNEDY EXPERT SAYS "CONSPIRACY."

He Declares that Writing on Check Was Done by Two Persons—New Line of Defense.

The defense sprang a sensation at the Kennedy murder trial to-day and incidentally showed that it was about to work on a line entirely different from that followed at previous trials. Handwriting expert Marshall D. Ewell, of Chicago, who was the first witness called for the accused dentist, declared that the body of the $13,000 check found on Dollie Reynolds and the indorsement were written by two different persons, and that this indicated that Dr. Kennedy was a VICTIM OF CONSPIRACY.

Prof. Ewell also said that the writing of "E. Maxwell and wife, Grand Hotel," found on a slip of paper in the death room, was also the work of two persons.

The assertion astounded the jurors and spectators in the court-room. It was hinted that persons who have not figured in the case before would be brought into the trial and that the accusation against Kennedy would soon be directed against others.

Just as Mr. Ewell began his testimony Mrs. Kennedy entered the court-room. She was dressed in a light summer suit and wore a new crown of straw and trimmed with a blue polka-dot ribbon.

She looked at her husband, but his back was to her. He was listening intently to the witness.

Mr. Ewell stated his qualifications as an expert in handwriting when he said he had studied since 1881.

A made whether, in his opinion, Dr. Kennedy wrote the body and indorsement on the check for $13,000, found on the body of "Dollie" Reynolds, he answered in a clear voice:

"I do not. I am convinced that the person who wrote the exhibits admitted to be genuine did not write the check for the signature on the back. It is a forgery."

Mr. Ewell then gave his reasons for stating that the signature on the back of the check was a forgery.

The jury listened to every word with the closest attention.

Under cross-examination Assistant District Attorney Osborne tried to show that the expert's evidence was not true.

He then asked whether the small piece of paper found in "Dollie" Reynolds's room in the Grand Hotel, upon which was written "E. Maxwell and wife, Grand Hotel," was written by one or two persons.

The expert declared that he thought more than one person wrote the slip.

SHIP IN DISTRESS CALLS FOR HELP.

Steamer Ranald Disabled Off Atlantic City by Cargo Shifting at Sea.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 3.—The steamer Ranald, from Trinidad to New York, is disabled two miles off this city. She is drifting toward the inlet.

The Atlantic City and Absecon Life-Saving crews have gone to her assistance.

The steamer is directly in the line of the Atlantic and coastwise trade, and must have been disabled in the heavy storm last night that swept the coast.

The fight of the life-saving crew to reach the vessel is being watched by hundreds on shore.

Four days ago the Ranald's cargo commenced shifting, and to-day it tilted to such an extent that Capt. Hamilton Cassidy had to lay-to, because he was afraid the vessel would capsize.

Lights have been sent for, and the cargo will be taken and straightened up.

The Ranald is 35 feet long and 20 feet beam. She is 27 feet hold, and her tonnage is 1,251. She carries a crew of twenty-four men. The cargo is consigned to New York.

WHEELING, W. Va., June 3.—Two men were killed and about twenty injured, two fatally, in a rear end collision between two sections of a work train to-day on the Pittsburg, Ohio Valley & Cincinnati Railroad near Powhatan.

Dead—Amelia Chan and John Meting. Fatally injured—Tony Weirine and Barney Melnicki.

A woman's body was found in the East River at Seventh street this afternoon. She was about thirty-five years old. She had brown hair and wore black jacket, shoes and dress.

Fifth Inning—Van singled. Selbach, Van out stealing third. Strang filed to Donovan. Hickman singled, scoring Selbach. Davis filed to Donovan. One run.

Ryan doubled. Childs singled, scoring Ryan. Childs to third on a passed ball. He scored on Burkett's fly to Hickman. Heidrich filed to Selbach. McGann fanned. Two runs.

Sixth Inning—Murphy relieved Powell. Ganzel out at first. Buelow fanned. Warner filed to McGann. No runs. Donovan out at first. Padden singled. Wallace filed to Ganzel. Kruger singled. Ryan out at first. No runs.

Seventh Inning—Phyle filed to Padden. Van singled. Selbach out at first. Van out stealing home. No runs. Murphy out at first. Burkett doubled. Heidrich and McGann out at first. No runs.

The Giants were sad at leaving New York. On the way to the grounds here they sang:

How could we bear to leave you?
One spring we gave you;
And then, what a baffle we
We went where duty called us.
Farewell, farewell, dear old New York.
Farewell, farewell!

The voice of the first tenor broke and the last strains of the "Soldier's Farewell" died away in a trembling wail that sounded like a flood of tears.

A whole lot of folks think a professional baseball player is without any sentiment or affection and is turned by a crank. This is not true of the Giants. They take pride in their city and the work and the cheers of the home crowd sound as sweet music in their ears.

They knew it would be different here, but were minded to work all the harder to uphold the fame of New York. There was no evidence of down-heartedness during the practice.

Buelow was on third and handed everything left his way with ease and confidence. Strang takes to second base like a duck to water, and the infield as now constituted is a tower of strength. Buelow's entry into the game adds also 50 per cent. to the team's batting strength.

First Inning.
The Giants were given first rap at the leather. Van Halgren lifted the ball safely between center and right, and chased around to second when Heidrich fumbled the ball. He went to third on Selbach's long fly to center. Van scored on Strang's out at first. McGann to Padden. Hickman hit to McGann and was out at first. One run.

Burkett raced down a bunt and was touched out by Warner. Heidrich snatched a triple to left field. McGann was thrown out by Davis. Heidrich scoring. Donovan out. Davis to Ganzel. One run.

Second Inning.
Heidrich was under Davis's long drive. Donovan made a error catch of Gansel's fly. Buelow hit an easy one to Powell and was fanned out. No runs. Gansel singled. Padden fanned. Wallace filed a single to center; he stole second. Kruger's single over second base brought him home. Kruger took (Continued on Sixth Page.)

(Special to The Evening World.)

ST. LOUIS, June 3.—After a long and tedious trip from dear old New York to the far Western depths of the Mound City, Manager George Davis's Giants came out upon the field to-day with lots less than their usual amount of ginger. They were determined, however, to take two games out of three from the Cowboys, if possible, to square up with their hosts for defeating them the rubber in the recent New York series.

But for some reason or other the tail-end teams seem to be the Giants' Jonahs. It was so with the Chicago Cubs on their visit to New York and the Chicagoas now tail the bunch. Then came the Cowboys, next to last—the percentage column, who showed up on the Polo Grounds as the most vigorous bunch of batters seen there this year.

They took two games out of three from the Giants. Perhaps it will be different on foreign grounds and the navy Giants may be enthused to extraordinary efforts by the very fact of being in an unfriendly atmosphere.

The Giants were sad at leaving New York. On the way to the grounds here they sang:

TOLD IN TABLOIDS.

GILMAN HEIRS MAY SETTLE.—It was announced to-day that a proposition had been made to the contesting heirs of the estate of George F. Gilman, under which it was thought a settlement might be reached.

TUNNEL STRIKE ENDED.—All the strikers on the rapid transit tunnel went back to work again to-day under a provisional agreement.

MORE PAY FOR TROLLEYMEN.—The Coney Island and Brooklyn Railroad announced to-day that it had decided to increase the pay of its motormen and conductors, the raise taking effect July 1.

MRS. WIKINLEY'S CONDITION.—WASHINGTON, June 3.—Mrs. McKinley's physician posted a bulletin to-day to the effect that her condition was as favorable as could be expected.

$200,000,000 IN COLLAR TRUST.—Seventeen of the twenty-four shirt and collar manufacturers, of Troy, have joined interests and been incorporated under the name of the American Shirt and Collar Company. The capital is $200,000,000.

TRIED TO LUNCH MOTORMAN.—Hafaelo Cammerlin, three years old, of No. 1550 Lexington avenue, was instantly killed this afternoon by a trolley car in front of his home. A crowd threatened to lynch Motormann John Hennessy, but two policemen defended him. He was held on a charge of manslaughter.

RETRACTION DELAYS DIVORCE.—The Campbell divorce trial was to-day set down for June 24 by Judge Chester, in Supreme Court, Brooklyn. It was interrupted last Wednesday by the sensational appearance of the co-respondent, Miss Corn Dunham, of David City, Neb., who went on the stand and said she had sworn falsely in an affidavit made against Dr. Campbell.

STRIKERS IN COURT.—Vice-Chancellor Pitney, in Jersey City, to-day declared that the striking weavers in Frank & Dugan's factory, in Paterson, must strictly obey the injunction granted against them and not annoy the workers who had taken their places. He did not declare them in contempt, however, as requested by the firm.

KILLED IN A FIGHT.—Thomas Dermody, seventy years old, was struck on the head with a beer can by Louis Kibber, fifty-eight, during a fight to-day at No. 540 West Fourth street, where both men lived. Dermody died before an ambulance arrived.

FRANCE FEARS OUR METHODS.—PARIS, June 3.—In the Chamber of Deputies to-day it was declared that the Napoleons of American industry meant to capture Europe and that the "yellow peril" was more distant than the "American peril."

HELEN GOULD'S ANNOYER FREE.—James H. Anderson, of Kansas City, who on April 15 was arrested for annoying Miss Helen Gould, was discharged in the Yorkville Court to-day. Anderson had been declared insane, but the Kansas City authorities refused to receive him.
